VALENTINES SPECIAL open to partners

The President has kindly offered a reduced rate for the partners of regular attendees. Compensation for sacrificing a romantic evening to be with ACFCEA UK West and enjoy the excellent dining at Brickhampton Golf Club.

What can the cyber security industry learn from other occupations?

Nick Drage

DIRECTOR, Path Dependence Ltd

Talk Details

The cyber security Industry is a large, well funded, and well established entity... yet its failures are a weekly news item. Overall the industry feels like it is regularly losing against its adversaries with no expectation that that the situation will improve.

This talk will suggest why a technology driven, engineer led industry has, without due consideration, developed ineffective strategies based on preferred ways of working and studying. It will then point to a way forward, looking at how we can learn from the successful participants in other contexts and conflicts to improve our own methods and practices.

Hopefully all attendees including partners can engage in the presentation.

Speaker Details

Nick has over two decades of experience in the cyber security field... previously he was "SecOps" before the term was invented, as well as having been a SysAdmin, PCI QSA, pre-sales analyst, CHECK Team Leader, and various other less well defined roles.

Nick is now the Director of Path Dependence Limited, a Cyber Security Consultant and Penetration Tester, with occasional forays into being a Wargame Umpire, Adversarial Analyst, or Professional Wildcard.
